

Humanities Lecture Series

2024-25

Semester 1

Wednesday 2 October 2024

Dr Henry Dee, 'Future immigration must be strictly restricted': National economies, migration controls and the remaking of class in colonial Durban, Colombo and Yangon, 1910-1948

Wednesday 23 October 2024

Professor Paul Gooding, The Library in Digital Humanities, and the Human in Digital Libraries.

Wednesday 13 November 2024

Professor Mona Simion, Disinformation, Politically Motivated Reasoning, and Distrust in Expertise

Wednesday 4 December 2024

Professor Karen Hardy, Paleo fact or flintstone fantasy? The Palaeolithic and its relevance to today's world'.

Semester 2

Wednesday 22 January 2025

Professor Jack Lyons, Seeing and Knowing.

Wednesday 12 February 2025

Professor Tom Harrison, Reimagining the classical past at the British Museum.

Wednesday 5 March 2025

Professor Sarah Richardson, Law breaking justified': women and challenges to the state in the early nineteenth century.

Wednesday 26 March 2025

Professor Katherine Forsyth, Imagining ogham. The Irish origins of a singularly original writing system.

All details and registration on

<https://www.gla.ac.uk/schools/humanities/events/humanitieslectureseries/>

The University of Glasgow, charity number SC004401

ALL WELCOME

